Event Descriptions

In addition to this schedule of events, there will be plenty of opportunities to learn how to play A Game of Thrones: The Card Game, Battles of Westeros, and A Game of Thrones: The Board Game all weekend long.

A Game of Thrones: The Card Game

Days of Ice and Fire Tournament

Test your mettle against your fellow A Game of Thrones players in this 2-part competitive tournament. Form and break alliances to rise to the top in the Melee and then challenge your opponents head-to-head in the Joust for the championship. Prizes will be awarded to the top placers. All standard tournament rules, as well as the most current FAQ, will be applied.

Legacy Highlander Tournament

Dust off your old A Game of Thrones cards and prepare for battle in this classic format. Cards from the entire sweep of A Game of Thrones' history can be used, but you can only use one copy of each, so construct your deck carefully! For more information on Legacy Highlander, visit the A Game of Thrones LCG Support Page.

Developers Meet and Greet

Meet the designers of A Game of Thrones, Nate French and Damon Stone, for a casual get together to talk about design, strategy, and the future of the game.

A Game of Thrones: The Board Game

Play FFG's classic board game of intrigue and diplomacy. Take the reins of one of the Great Houses and negotiate your way to control of Westeros - but beware of the Wildling assault!

Battles of Westeros

Westeros has erupted in war! Join the fight in these special What If? scenarios, for Battles of Westeros. In these scenarios, we postulate a Westeros that could have been, in which the conditions of the war are radically different, most notably: Eddard Stark and Tywin Lannister meet each other on the field of battle.

"Fighting Fire with Ice"

In this scenario, Tywin Lannister has put the Riverlands to the torch and Eddard Stark must lead his bannermen against the onslaught.

"In Sight of the Eye"

West of the God's Eye, the Lannisters have ravaged the countryside and are now headed to Harrenhal. Little do they know that the Starks await them.

"Biting the Hand"

Tywin Lannister's army, having taken advantage of Robert Baratheon's assassination, now marches along the Green Fork to assault the makeshift defenses of House Stark, led by Eddard himself.

Battles of Westeros Designer Seminar

Meet and question the developers of Battles of Westeros, Rob Kouba and Jason Walden, and find out more about the design process, how the Commands and Colors system was adjusted for the game, and more about the future of Battles of Westeros. There will also be a drawing to participate in several Play with the Designers games of Battles of Westeros.
